WHY ISEP?

YOUR PATH TO THE WORLD IS NOW OPEN.

Over the past 40 years, ISEP has helped more than 60,000 students access the life-changing experience of study abroad. We believe study abroad should be for anyone who wants it. In fact, we've made that our mission.

As a non-profit organization, our first job is to break down barriers to make study abroad accessible and affordable for all.

- We offer an impressive and affordable array of programs among a global community of nearly 350 universities and colleges in more than 50 countries.
- That means you can go just about anywhere to study, from full-year, to semester-long, to summer programs, service learning, and even internships.
- With ISEP Exchange programs, you can go abroad at the same cost as your home university's tuition, housing and meal plan. Any scholarships, grants or financial aid you receive will apply.
- Our ISEP Direct programs are often the best value available, offering lower costs than other options, guaranteed placement at your university of choice, and a thoughtfully customized experience.
- Whether you participate in a study, intern, or volunteer abroad program, ISEP ensures you get all the support you need.

BEYOND ACCESS: THE AUTHENTIC STUDY ABROAD EXPERIENCE

It's one thing to enable access to study abroad. It's another to provide an experience that's immersive and life changing. And that's exactly what we do at ISEP.

- We believe there is enormous value for students to live like a local, and fully engage with another culture.
- Time and again, our students report that ISEP programs helped them gain cross-cultural understanding and respect for others.
- As a result, ISEP students develop highly desirable skills for life, and for future employment. From an openness to people and new ideas, to greater flexibility, problem solving, and the ability to communicate in the workplace.
- Most importantly, students gain a transformative self-confidence that can only come from such an authentic experience.

At ISEP, we believe the core challenge for young people is to find out who they are and where they want to go in life. The opportunity and experience that ISEP's study, intern and volunteer abroad programs provide clarifies this process of personal identity, while providing a rich academic and cross-cultural experience.

ISEP SUPPORTS YOU

Between our ISEP Global Office staff and your home and host university ISEP Coordinators, you will be well-supported throughout your journey. Our team of experts will advise you on your program options, walk you through the application and guide you through the process for acquiring the necessary travel documentation.

As industry leaders in health, safety and emergency support, our staff will prepare you for departure and are on-call while you are abroad. Even after your program ends, we remain a valuable resource for you upon your return. Your ISEP experience will last a lifetime, and more opportunities await you in the ISEP Alumni Association.

FINANCES & SCHOLARSHIPS

Studying abroad is an investment in your future, but sometimes you can't do it alone. We want to help make your study abroad experience as affordable as possible. We offer ISEP Scholarships just for ISEP students to keep our programs accessible and inclusive.

Most institutional scholarships and financial aid can be used for ISEP programs, and your university may also have specific internal scholarships reserved for study abroad to help cover travel costs or additional fees. There are many other outside organizations that can also provide financial support.

WE'RE HERE TO HELP.

Get in touch with us! Our team is the number one resource available to you. Here's how we support our students:

FINDING A PROGRAM

- Advising to achieve your study abroad goals
- Guidance for completing your ISEP Application

- The ISEP Alumni Association

ISEP SCHOLARSHIPS

Explore our organization's variety of scholarships to help you with your study abroad expenses.

ISEP COMMUNITY SCHOLARSHIP - $500

ISEP Scholarships support our mission of extending access and affordability to study abroad. ISEP students with demonstrated financial need qualify for our scholarships. You are especially encouraged to apply if you are a student who is statistically underrepresented in study abroad.

ISEP FOUNDERS FELLOWSHIP - $2,500

ISEP Founders Fellows are dedicated to language learning and improving their speaking, reading and comprehension in a foreign language as an integral part of their interest in studying abroad. The application includes a creative project or prototype, a project proposal and a personal statement.

ISEP MEMBER UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIPS

Many of our members offer scholarships specifically for students attending their programs, including the American College of Thessalonki (ACT) in Greece, Katholische Universität Eichstätt – Ingolstadt in Germany, Kansai Gaidai University in Japan and Massey University in New Zealand.

JOIN OUR COMMUNITY

As an ISEP student, you will join a global community of students, alumni and friends from across the world, all areas of expertise and all backgrounds. We value the real connections made through immersive study abroad - not just seeing the world, but truly experiencing it in a way that opens pathways to achieving academic, career and personal goals. ISEP students are engaged in their host communities and with other students from around the world, learning as much about themselves as their new environment and friends.

ISEP is proud to be a welcoming and inclusive community where students feel safe, respected and comfortable with being themselves. Our organization is dedicated to increasing access to study abroad for underrepresented students from diverse backgrounds. We offer advising, resources and scholarships to advance diversity, inclusion and accessibility abroad. Whether you are a first generation student, you identify as LGBTQ+, you're an ethnic, racial or religious minority in your home country or have a disability, ISEP provides the way and the support.

ISEP ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

As an alum of an ISEP program, you will be part of a worldwide community of support and resources. We have more than 65,000 alumni all over the world and active chapters in the U.S., Australia, Morocco, South Korea and more. The ISEP Alumni Association organizes events and produces exclusive content just for you.

The ISEP Alumni Association provides a global network of connections, job coaching, graduate school application advice and focused training resources, such as webinars for applying for careers in international diplomacy. Whether you keep traveling for the rest of your life or find a place to settle, you can live like a local wherever you go.

“With the opportunity to study abroad, I was able to see differences in accessibility for individuals with mobility issues in different countries. Studying in Germany gave me an opportunity to compare how diverse cultures include disabled students, especially because my studies at Marburg tied directly to my interest in anthropology and health policy. Giving the opportunity for students of all kinds to see their future is very important.”

Simone Dreher

Studied at Philipps-Universität Marburg, Germany

“I became a life-long champion for international education in part because of my own exchange experience with ISEP. The ISEP Alumni Association provides real ways for alumni to connect online and in-person for networking and professional development, with a focus on leveraging the core competencies of international education for employability and professional achievement.”

Terhi Mölsä, ISEP Board of Directors member and CEO, Fulbright Finland Foundation

University of Tampere, Finland to University of Kansas, U.S.

STUDY ABROAD

We directly enroll you at our member universities because we value the personal transformation that comes from cultural immersion. As an international student, you will not only grow academically and professionally, but enrich your life and open your mind to new experiences.

With ISEP, you can study abroad for a semester, full academic year or during the summer in over 50 different countries.

While ISEP offers many places where you can study abroad, there are two ways to go: ISEP Direct and ISEP Exchange. Both program types offer diverse locations and affordable options to suit your academic needs. The best program type for you depends on your home institution and your desired site.

HOW IT WORKS

ISEP DIRECT

When you go abroad on an ISEP Direct program, you pay the fee specified for your program, which may even be less than what you normally pay at your home institution.

- Meet the minimum requirements and your placement at your top choice program is guaranteed.
- Flexible options are available for housing and meals.
- Some ISEP Direct programs include special benefits like excursions, an intensive language course and more.
- ISEP Direct deadlines vary by program and are typically later to allow more time to decide on your perfect program. Check our website for details!

60+ ISEP DIRECT PROGRAMS
40+ COUNTRIES

ISEP EXCHANGE

When you go abroad on an ISEP Exchange program, you pay your home institution's tuition, housing and meals and take the spot of a student at another ISEP university.

- Rank up to 10 universities; placements depend on space available and are not guaranteed.
- Programs include packaged housing and meals.
- Submit your application by the priority deadlines (Feb. 15 & Sept. 15) to be eligible for sites with more limited spots.

200+ ISEP EXCHANGE PROGRAMS
50+ COUNTRIES

HOW TO FIND THE RIGHT PROGRAM

ACADEMICS & LANGUAGE

- Use our online Program Finder to search academic fields of study and language of instruction.
- Work with your Academic Advisor and ISEP Student Advisor to identify course options.
- Want to study another language? Check out our intensive Language & Culture Programs in Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Japanese, Spanish, Portuguese and more.

LOCATION

- Major cities offer a lot of attractions, but it may be easier to meet people and feel at home in a medium-size city or smaller town.
- Keep in mind that universities abroad may not have a traditional campus, but rather buildings throughout the city.

TYPE OF INSTITUTION & HOUSING

- Small institutions may offer more personal attention; large universities may have more course options.
- What's best for you: live with a host family, in a student residence or in an apartment?

PROGRAM DURATION & DATES

- Want to go abroad for a full year, a semester or during the summer? While a full-year program may seem daunting, many students come back wishing they had stayed longer!
- Due to widely differing academic calendars around the world, be sure your program fits the timeline of your home university's semester dates.

INTERN ABROAD

Enhance your resume and stand out in a competitive job market with an internship abroad. ISEP internships provide international work and living experience to meet your personal and professional goals and lead to a greater level of leadership and preparedness. Invest in your future by interning abroad for a semester or summer!

With ISEP, you can supplement your university coursework with an internship outside of the classroom organized through your program or host university, or intern full-time through our partner, Global Experiences, in a city brimming with opportunity.

FULL-TIME INTERNSHIPS ABROAD

Full-time interns receive guaranteed internship placement, career coaching, housing and on-site support. Explore a wide range of career fields to find the perfect fit. Intern in English or the local language and earn academic credit while you immerse yourself both in the workplace and your host country's culture. Develop desirable skills and valuable cross-cultural perspective to secure your future in an increasingly global workforce.

Find your career and live like a local in one of 10 global cities including Barcelona, Dublin, Florence, London, New York City, Paris, Sydney and Washington D.C.

“As an intern at the U.S. Fulbright Commission to Belgium and Luxembourg, I got to be an EducationUSA advisor and worked with Fulbright grantees. I don't know the exact moment it happened, but I just realized that it was the type of work I wanted to be doing.”

VOLUNTEER ABROAD

With ISEP, you can volunteer abroad in many ways. Extend your experience beyond the classroom and into the local community by volunteering on projects with nonprofits, enrolling in a meaningful service learning course, teaching at local schools or taking advantage of other opportunities at your host institution during your study abroad program.

Connect with locals and immerse yourself into the host cultures in a mutually rewarding educational experience. If you are interested in learning about complex issues in communities around the world while enjoying a rich cultural, historical and social experience, then a comprehensive Volunteer Abroad program like the ISEP Global Engagement Program in Ghana is for you.

ISEP GLOBAL ENGAGEMENT PROGRAM - GHANA

ISEP's Global Engagement Program in Ghana offers benefits above and beyond a typical program including facilitated volunteering, independent study and research projects, internship opportunities, an on-site resident director, excursions and more.

The University of Ghana is located in the heart of Ghana's capital and fastest growing city in Africa, Accra. As you fly over, Ghana appears to be a bundle of green, bordered by golden beaches, but once you step off the plane you will immediately feel its cultural richness and variety. Enjoy beautiful natural landscapes while making a difference in the local community.

“ My time in Ghana definitely led to my career and my commitment to service, but it also changed my life. My sister married another ISEP student from my Ghana program, and the experience opened up the world to me. After going to Ghana, I jumped at the chance to get a master's in Mexico. My unique background, including my ISEP program in Ghana and the lifelong volunteer engagement that came from it got me my first job in Sydney.”

STUDYING IN THE U.S.

Studying in the U.S. can help perfect your English skills, strengthen your resume and expose you to a range of academic topics in one of the world's finest university systems. While on your host campus, take advantage of the unique opportunities outside of class and participate in student organizations or sports teams.

You also get the chance to experience beautiful landscapes and welcoming, friendly locals and people from all over the world. Discover charming small towns, vibrant cities and join a diverse and inclusive culture.

STUDYING IN THE UNITED STATES

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS

- Undergraduates are students in the U.S. in their first four years of university pursuing a bachelor's of arts or bachelor's of science degree. Most undergraduate programs are flexible, allowing students to choose a variety of courses and create their own unique program of study.
- In addition to major requirements, students take courses in a variety of disciplines. Professional programs such as medicine, pharmacy, dentistry, veterinary science and law are offered at the graduate level only, although undergraduates take 'pre-med' or 'pre-law' courses to prepare for further study.

GRADUATE STUDENTS

- Graduate programs are specialized and lead to a master's degree or a doctoral degree. Admission to graduate study usually requires four years of undergraduate study but may be possible after three years. ISEP graduate students are usually admitted as 'special' or 'non-degree' students and take undergraduate courses. Qualified students may be able to take graduate courses.

APPLYING TO GRADUATE COURSES

Test scores may be required, such as GMAT for business and GRE for other subjects. TOEFL requirements may be higher. Some classes are open to final-year undergraduates and first-year graduate students. Some sites may allow you to pursue a full graduate degree. Any major that requires direct clinical patient contact (physical therapy, psychological counseling, dentistry, medicine) is closed to non-degree students. Instead, non-degree graduate students are advised to take courses in related fields (health and sciences) not involving direct clinical patient contact.

PUBLIC VS. PRIVATE - HOW TO CHOOSE WHERE TO GO

Rather than a single national system of higher education, each U.S. state is responsible for the regulation of its institutions of higher learning. The two main types of institutions are public or state universities, and private or independent colleges and universities. These types of institutions can vary considerably.

PUBLIC UNIVERSITIES

- Usually enroll over 10,000 students
- Attract a large number of in-state residents, due to in-state tuition incentives
- Offer a choice of majors in a variety of disciplines
- Larger class sizes, especially for lecture courses
- Diverse student body, strong student community and culture around sports
- More on-campus employment options

PRIVATE COLLEGES & UNIVERSITIES

- Usually enroll less than 10,000 students
- Attract more out-of-state students; greater geographic diversity
- Offer a smaller range of majors, but often have a particular academic focus
- Smaller class sizes; tend to offer many opportunities for interaction with professors
- Intimate student community; formed through on-campus activities

ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY

ISEP institutions in the United States require proof of English language proficiency from students who are not native English speakers. For Puerto Rico, students must provide proof of both English and Spanish language proficiency.

Most institutions in the U.S. require an official TOEFL score, but some may accept Institutional TOEFL, IELTS, MELAB, Cambridge certificate or SAT scores.

Some U.S. institutions may accept the ISEP Language Proficiency Report in lieu of TOEFL scores, especially for students from educational systems that require a high level of English proficiency, including: Austria, Belgium, Botswana, Bulgaria, Denmark, Fiji, Finland, Germany, Ghana, Malta, Netherlands, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland or United Arab Emirates.

TOEFL

If the TOEFL is required by the sites on your application, we must receive the official copy of your TOEFL before placement can be finalized.

WHEN DO I TAKE THE TOEFL?

- To be considered in the ISEP Exchange placement round starting February 15, you should take the TOEFL test by January 1.
- For applications due on September 1, take the test by July 15.

WHERE DO I SEND MY TOEFL RESULTS?

- Results must be sent directly to ISEP from ETS.
- If you take the paper or internet-based test, list ISEP's TOEFL number: 9250. For computer-based tests, choose Virginia and ISEP.

WHICH PROGRAMS OFFER ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE COURSES?

- ISEP Direct programs in the United States offer full-time ESL courses.
- Some ISEP Exchange programs offer some ESL support courses in addition to regular academic coursework, but are not designed for students who wish to take full-time ESL courses.

AFRICA & THE MIDDLE EAST

Spanning from cosmopolitan cities on the Arabian Peninsula to the beaches and cliffs on the southern coast of Africa, ISEP offers programs across incredibly diverse landscapes and cultures. Botswana and South Africa attract adventurers with their natural wonders and wildlife, while the U.A.E.'s monumental architecture awe-inspires locals and visitors alike. In Morocco, you'll feel like family amongst friends as you experience a culture with Spanish, French and Arab influences.

“ Within my first month, I cuddled with lion cubs, had amazing food with amazing people, and was humbled after learning about the country’s long history, both political and natural. My classes at UJ have challenged me in a way I could have never imagined. On my first day of “practical” (a lab course), my parasitology professor already had me doing mock-fieldwork that examined the number of parasites within a population.”

AUSTRALIA, NEW ZEALAND & OCEANIA

Oceania is where global centers for business and culture meet dynamic landscapes and tropical wilderness — it's no wonder this part of the world is an incredibly popular study abroad destination. ISEP's multitude of universities across Australia and New Zealand present various locations with adventure calling just beyond campus. If you seek an internship or professional development experience at a world-class institution, look no further than the cities of Sydney, Melbourne, Auckland or Wellington. For those who desire a change of pace, the laidback culture of locals is infectious on the picturesque islands of Fiji.

“ New Zealand taught me it's important to say yes to new opportunities and fully take advantage of the environment around you. School is important, but it's not everything that makes an experience or a life whole. I was able to cross off numerous items on my bucket list while in New Zealand, while also still fully focused on advancing my degree and passion for environmental science. Now I get to take that perspective home with me!”

SOUTH AMERICA

For a comprehensive experience abroad combining language learning, vibrant city life and adventure, look no further than South America. The continent boasts great diversity including the European influences in Argentina and Uruguay, and the indigenous culture of the Andes. Explore Colombia's many parks, mountains and beaches on both the Caribbean and Pacific.

Immerse yourself in Brazil's culturally diverse society, where everyone — soccer fans, shoppers, sunbathers and adventurers — will find a spot they won't want to leave. You'll be captivated by the colorful high mountains of Bolivia, stunning glaciers of Chile's Patagonia region and Ecuador's lakes and volcanoes.

“ As a Spanish Teaching major, I knew that studying abroad not only posed an opportunity for me to explore the world, but also an opportunity to immerse myself in the Spanish language and the cultures of South America. Studying abroad in a country that speaks a different language has led to the most beneficial part of my semester here. My ability to speak and understand the Spanish language is better than ever before, and I owe all of that to Universidad Icesi, my host family and the friendly and genuine people of Cali.”
