

STUDY ABROAD

2015 ANNUAL REPORT

ISEP is a non-profit educational community

dedicated to helping students overcome financial and academic barriers to study abroad. Since 1979, we have sent over 51,000 students on transformative, life-changing study abroad programs, and have grown to include 325 institutions in 54 countries.

We directly enroll our students into classes at our member universities because we value the personal transformation that comes from living and learning alongside locals.

Through ISEP, students build real connections and gain a true understanding of what it is like to live in another culture. By utilizing existing academic resources at our member universities, we are able to provide students access to affordable, high-quality programs, that in return, help develop culturally sensitive skill sets needed for today's global workforce.

BOARD CHAIR'S MESSAGE

In January 2015, the Board of Directors launched a global presidential search for the best leader to succeed retiring President and CEO Mary Anne Grant. Her 34-years of exemplary service built a vibrant community of higher education institutions dedicated to student exchange and study abroad. The extensive national and international search and intensive vetting process attracted top-notch candidates from around the world—underscoring ISEP’s reputation in the international education arena. By year’s end, the search concluded with the Board’s unanimous vote to appoint Dr. John S. Lucas as President and CEO-elect.

ISEP’s stability in maintaining programs and services while continuing to grow and develop in response to new demands is a hallmark of which we can be proud. We not only launched a fully-operational online application system but also introduced a new brand identity to better represent the values of our membership and student body. Our focus on in-depth student learning through direct enrollment so that students can live and study with their peers has not wavered.

Perhaps ISEP’s greatest achievement is represented by our 51,000 alumni. Our students come from 325 member institutions in 54 countries, institutions that are dedicated to ensuring that international exchange and study abroad are available to all students who seek these opportunities.

John Lucas joins ISEP with a commitment to build on this strong foundation as a membership organization dedicated to access, diversity and affordability in international exchange and study abroad through collaboration, mutual respect and trust. He brings excellent skills in working with students in the United States and abroad, an academic background, experience in the non-profit sector and fluency in several foreign languages. All qualities that will ensure strong leadership in all these important areas for our organization.

Thus, ISEP begins a new chapter to become even more responsive to the growing need for international student mobility. The Board of Directors joins me in thanking all who have contributed to this organization and its ideals. We welcome your comments on this report and your ideas for the future.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

This annual report represents a year of celebration, achievement and transition as ISEP prepared for my retirement as President and CEO on January 15, 2016, after 34 years with the organization. As I prepared to begin the next chapter of my life, I also reflected on ISEP's numerous achievements since its founding in 1979, including:

MISSION - We remain true to our founding mission of access, diversity and affordability in international student exchange and study abroad.

PARTNERSHIP - Our ongoing collaboration with each other truly is a remarkable long-term achievement.

EVOLUTION - Our transformation from a Georgetown University program funded by the U.S. government into a self-supporting non-profit organization is a noteworthy accomplishment of which we can be proud.

ADAPTABILITY - Our program options have evolved over the years in response to new and changing developments in the field.

COMMITMENT - We remain a dedicated organization responsive to the needs of our students and member institutions.

ISEP's transition to new leadership began early in 2015 and concluded with the appointment of Dr. John S. Lucas as the new President and CEO. This process reflected the same cooperation among the Board of Directors, Council of Advisors and Central Office Staff that we enjoy in all aspects of our work. Over the last few months, John and I have worked together to ensure a smooth transition so that he can lead ISEP to greater success in serving our membership and our students.

In closing, I want to express my thanks to all who have contributed to this dynamic organization. First, to the ISEP Central Office Staff for their dependability, creativity and commitment in serving our students and member institutions. Secondly, to the Board of Directors and Council of Advisors for their strong leadership and collaboration to make ISEP's mark in international education, to strengthen the organization and to serve. And thirdly, to every ISEP Coordinator for their stalwart commitment to serving and supporting our students. ISEP is indeed a community of people who engage in a valuable enterprise that makes a difference in the lives of thousands of individuals every year.

I am extremely grateful for whatever role I have played in ISEP's achievements. We share a commitment to making the world a better place, and my life has been enriched immeasurably as we worked side-by-side with a profound sense of purpose.

PRESIDENT-ELECT'S MESSAGE

I am honored and privileged to join the ISEP community of institutions dedicated to making international exchange accessible and affordable to a wide variety of students. The benefits of an intercultural experience are numerous and well-researched. The ability to live, work and build relationships with people from other countries are crucial skills for the next generation. Our global footprint allows us to offer diverse quality programs with excellent support services and guidance to thousands of students every year.

As the largest global network of colleges and universities, we draw on the talents, skills and resources of our members on every continent. We are ideally suited to lead in a time of change and uncertainty through collaboration, resourcefulness, innovation and forward-thinking. As President and CEO, I have the good fortune to build upon ISEP's distinguished history and its laser-focus on its mission. The dedicated ISEP community of institutions, Board of Directors, Council of Advisors, coordinators and central office staff embodies our mission and lives our values every day.
